My next piece of advice is to make sure you enable Focus Peaking. Focus peaking highlights objects using color outlines. This makes objects that are in focus easier to see during manual focus operation. You will find this by pressing the Menu button on the back of the camera. Then select the gear icon (⚙️). Then select D3 and go to Peaking Settings. This allows you to adjust the peaking color (I generally prefer red) and the highlight setting (I generally prefer high).
